Opedo Software Launches “First Try Fridays” on the App Store, the World's First Skateboarding Simulation

Vancouver, B.C., Canada, December 20, 2010 — Opedo Software, today announced its highly anticipated First Try Fridays App is now available on the App Store. With Opedo’s revolutionary, state of the art game engine, the iPhone and iPod touch gaming experience will never be the same.

The graphically superb First Try Fridays App features intense skateboarding moments. Intuitive multi-touch controls, using only two fingers, allow players to unlock the freedom that is skateboarding. With over 14430 different combinations of flips and grinds, a large practice area and 11 different levels, players are only limited by their own skills.

iOS industry first features include full scene real time shadows, reflections on all windows, 15 micron accurate collision detection, HDR lighting with sun and sky global illumination, and a physically plausible sound simulation. The technologies in First Try Fridays App surpass anything available before on the iPhone, even besting console games.

The First Try Fridays App is available for $7.99 from the App Store on iPhone and iPod touch, or at <http://www.itunes.com/appstore>.
